

Lecture Assignment 3

• What is ISO 27001 Standard at high-level?

- it's an international standard that shows how to control and continuously improve the ISMS where it's helps with risks management
- and using PDCA cycle for continuous improvement ~~planned change~~

• Who is responsible for the body of Knowledge of the ISO 27001?

- the official body of Knowledge is owned by ISO ^{but} and the
- Consulting companies and training providers can be involved
- but they don't ~~the~~ own the standard

• What is the use of the ISO 27001 standard and where it is most used in practice?

- it's used to help companies to protect their informations
- and manage security risks and used by IT and used by software companies, it also used by healthcare

• What is the relationship between ISO 27001 standard and the ITIL Framework we learning in class?

- they have same goals but they ~~have~~ can't replace each other
- as ISO 27001 supports ITIL and ITIL help implementing ISO 27001.

• Any other information you might find interesting about this standard?

- it could be certifiable and it's not only for IT, it's also a part of a whole set (ISO 27001, ISO 27002)